Trisha Hayman

An exhibition of works by Dorset artist, Trisha Hayman

Trisha Hayman is a west Dorset artist specialising in highly detailed studies of the natural world.

She works in watercolour and occasionally graphite using a dry brush technique.

Trisha shows the beautiful but raw edges of nature, the unconsidered and expendable.

These specimens fascinate her the most - the fragility of a skeletal leaf, the complexity of bird feathers, butterfly wings and raw-boned animal skulls.

She observes her subject matter closely, reproducing the splendour of still life no matter how ordinary.

Trisha has had solo and joint exhibitions locally and in London, and has taken part in Dorset Art Weeks.

Open Wed 8th – Wed 29th April, 10am – 4pm daily in the Main Barn
