

Upwey Ceramics

An exhibition of works by Dorset collective, Upwey Ceramics

Upwey Ceramics is a long-established group of local people who meet on a weekly basis to work together and share creative ideas.

As well as working with clay (making sculptures, throwing pots or hand-building coil and slab pots) members of the group bring their talents in other crafts to this exhibition.

There will be jewellery, paintings, textiles and many other items of interest.

The individual members of Upwey Ceramics bring a wide variety of experience and ideas to the group and, as a result, the exhibition has a very interesting and diverse range of styles.

There really is something for everyone.
