

Art in the Barn October 2020

An exhibition of works by Dorset artist and photographer Sam Goodwin

Sam is an artist and photographer, currently living and working in Exeter. The work he will be displaying for Art in the Barn October is a series of film photographs. The images were made whilst walking the West Dorset coastline, and during explorations of the countryside surrounding Toller Porcorum, where he grew up.

Sam's photographic practice is centred around studies of landscape. He is interested in the ways we connect with and explore our surroundings, and especially the way we interact with our ever-changing environment. His work is also concerned with how our landscapes shape us, and the connections we form through our memories and interactions with our surroundings. Sam's work is often made on long exploratory walks, and the idea of journeying plays a key role. Much of his work is made using 120mm film and analogue cameras.
